

New Presbyterian Pastor Chosen For Montevallo

Reverend Thomas M. Davis Of Ensley Accepts Pastorate Of Local Church

The Montevallo Presbyterian Church will begin the month of December with a resident pastor, after having been without the services of a minister for many months.

Rev. Thomas M. Davis has resigned his pastorate at the Ensley First Presbyterian Church to accept the call tendered him by the Montevallo Presbyterian Church. As one of the younger ministers of the Birmingham Presbytery, Rev. Davis has been active in all phases of the church work, his own church having shown a continuous growth during his ministry. For the past several months he has served as president of the Presbyterian Pastors' Union of the Birmingham District.

Rev. Davis, as a member of the class of 1933, graduated at Davidson College, N. C. Following his work at Davidson, he attended Union Seminary in Richmond, Va., from which he graduated three years later. In June of this year, he was married to Miss Mary Bailey Williams, of Greensboro, N. C. Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Women's College, University of North Carolina, and for one year was a student at the General Assembly's Training School at Richmond, Va. For the past four years, Mrs. Davis has been director of religious education at the Druid Hills Presbyterian Church in Atlanta. While there, she came in intimate contact with students from Agnes Scott College, many of whom attended this church. This experience she has gained in working with students in a large city church should be of great help to this young couple in carrying forward the student work among Presbyterian students attending Alabama College.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis will be at home after December 1, in the new Presbyterian Manse located on Nabors Street.

County Teachers Hold Meeting Here

The elementary teachers of Shelby County held their regular monthly meeting in Montevallo November 9 at 7 o'clock in the Elementary School auditorium. The theme, "Guiding Growth Through Participation in Life's Activities," was a continuation of last month's discussion. Mrs. Fancher was the leader for the primary group, and Mrs. Adams was the one for the upper elementary group.

Talks on home and school relationship were given by Miss Jean Logan and Miss Myrtle Brown. Organization of activities was discussed by Miss Lula Atkinson, Mrs. Elizabeth Jeter, and Miss Effie Culver. These teachers gave examples of work done in their classes and displayed scrap books, frites, drawings, and booklets. Mrs. Ophelia Maisie concluded the program with an interesting talk on child study.

An interesting phase of the meeting was the art exhibit in Bloch Hall, of paintings by Alabama artists, which was opened to the teachers. The new elementary school building was also opened for inspection.

Miss Amand Palmer, Eufaw, takes the part of "Mr. Perry" and Miss Jean Letson, Columbiana, plays "Frank Churchill," in "Romances by Emma," the senior play, which is an adaptation of Jane Austen's famous novel, "Emma."

Plans Are Made For Christmas Lights

The Study Club committee on Christmas lights have completed their canvass and have raised funds necessary to assure a better display of lights on the business streets than last year.

Plans for putting up the equipment have been made, and it is expected that the lights will be turned on about the first of December.

The ladies are to be commended for the work they have done. After all, it is nothing to them personally, except their individual interest in seeing our town show the Christmas spirit.

If there is any material benefit, it will be to the merchants and not to the ladies who have sponsored the movement.

The committee thanks the business people of the town who have cooperated and responded to their appeal for necessary finances.

Plans Made For Sale Of Christmas Seals

Organization of committees and completion of plans for the 1939 Christmas Seal campaign, which will open on Thanksgiving Day, have been announced by Mrs. M. P. Jeter, general chairman of the Seal sale in Shelby County.

Tons of campaign material have been distributed through the state tuberculosis association, and Shelby County's supply has been prepared by local workers under direction of Mrs. Jeter, making everything ready for the sale to start.

These Christmas Seals finance the county, state and national campaign for eradication of tuberculosis. Mrs. Jeter pointed out, "Tuberculosis is the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45, and therefore, is Shelby County's leading health problem," said the chairman, in laying emphasis on the need for prompt and generous response to the Seal sale which will open Thanksgiving Day and continue through Christmas.

The Seal sale campaign committee for Shelby County is composed of the following persons: Mrs. M. P. Jeter, general chairman; Mrs. J. L. Appleton, treasurer; Miss Mamie Jo Harbin, Mrs. Luther Fowler, Dr. E. F. Sloan, and W. M. Wyatt.

MRS. MAHAN AND MISS FAUST ATTEND BEAUTICIAN'S MEET

Mrs. S. M. Mahan and Miss Ann Faust, of the Mahan Beauty Shop, have returned from a four-day stay at the convention of beauticians in Birmingham.

Elsewhere in this paper, Mrs. Mahan gives a report of this study which will be of interest to women of Montevallo. You are urged to read it.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Dobbins of Anniston were in Montevallo Monday night to see Miss LeGallienne play "Hedda Gabler" at Palmer Hall.

Rest in bed is regarded by medical authorities as one of the best ways to cure tuberculosis.

POST OFFICE CLOSED TODAY

The Montevallo post office will observe national Thanksgiving today. There will be no delivery of mail by rural route or city carrier.

The general delivery window will be open from 9 to 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 2 p.m. for stamp sales and handling packages.

The regular dispatch of mails will be made.

"Recreation" Is Subject Of P. T. A. Meeting

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held Tuesday night in the Elementary School auditorium with a large group of members and friends attending. Mrs. Fred Frost presided.

The membership committee reported 162 members.

The treasurer reported gifts for the lunch room and for play ground equipment.

Miss Utterback introduced the subject, "Recreation Which the child of Today May Use as the Adult of Tomorrow," and the speakers, several adults of different occupations who told of recreations they engage in which were learned in school. Those who made these talks were Mr. Frank Baker, Mr. Luther Shaw, Mrs. W. M. Davis, and Mr. R. A. Reid.

Mrs. Waller directed the High School Glee Club in two songs.

After the meeting refreshments were served in the cafeteria and the members and visitors were then escorted to Mary Alice Boyd Hall, where the Elementary School faculty held open house.

Christmas Seals pay dividends throughout the year in protecting your home and your family from tuberculosis.

Martin Answers Charges Of TVA Against Alabama Power Company

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 18.—Commenting upon the Saturday speech of TVA Director David E. Lilienthal at LaFayette, Ala., on the occasion of the energizing of the lines of the Tallapoosa Electric Membership Corporation, Thomas W. Martin, president of Alabama Power Co., today stated:

"The statements of Mr. Lilienthal against power companies in the South in general, and in the Central South in particular, are so misleading, so far from factual and so shot through with prejudice that it is hard to conceive that a man in his position would be willing to father them.

"Without attempting to answer in detail Mr. Lilienthal's tissue of misstatements, I present the following facts outstanding in Alabama Power Company's long history of effort and achievement in advancing rural electrification in Alabama and the success that has attended these efforts:

Sixty-two thousand rural residents in towns of less than 2,500 population and outside the boundary lines of any town, receive electric service. This is two-thirds

Board Of Health Adopts Regulations On Milk Products

The Board of Health of Shelby County on November 14 adopted the following resolution:

"It shall be unlawful to use on bottles or other containers of milk or milk products, sold in Shelby County, any caps or other devices bearing any legend or lettering indicating that the contents thereof have been graded, or have been produced at a dairy which has been graded, unless the said contents or the said dairy have or has been graded in accordance with the provisions of the latest form of the State Board of Health regulation governing production, handling and sale of milk and certain milk products, and the producer and distributor thereof holds or hold an unrevoked permit from the Shelby County Health Officer, issued in accordance with the provisions of the said regulations.

"This regulation shall be in effect throughout Shelby County from and after 30 days following its adoption."

The considerable number of milk producers in the county who are producing milk for sale to the public will be required to use blank labels and caps on their containers unless they can meet the requirements as set forth in the State Board of Health Regulations, to produce graded milk.

The consumer can, therefore, look at his bottle cap and tell whether or not he is getting milk produced under the best and safest conditions.

The County Health Department will assist any milk producer who wishes to qualify to produce graded milk under the above regulations.

Deep South Quartet To Appear At Siluria

The Deep South Quartet, of Birmingham, will appear in concert at Thompson High School, Siluria, next Saturday night. The program will begin at 7:30. Admission charges will be 15 and 25 cents.

The following day, Sunday, November 26, there will be an all-day singing at the Thompson High School auditorium. Prominent singers and leaders will be there from Jefferson, Shelby, Chilton, and Bibb Counties. The Deep South Quartet will render several numbers during the day. Everybody is invited. There will be no admission charge for the Sunday singing.

Cooperation Of Everyone Is Urged To Make Nation's Inventory The Biggest And Best

Preliminary plans through which Montevallo and its trade territory can be assured a full and complete report of its population, farm and business resources in the 1940 decennial census were announced this week by Mayor Charles T. Acker.

Mayor Acker said he is acting in response to a letter from Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, urging that civic leaders of Montevallo organize to make the various censuses to be taken in 1940 the most complete and accurate picture of the community's human and economic resources ever compiled.

"Only by the active interest of every American community in seeing that its resources are fully and correctly reported," Secretary Hopkins said, "can we get the full and complete factual picture of the nation as a whole which is so vital to both private and public enterprise."

Mayor Acker said he will select a General Citizens' Committee embracing all of the principal civic interests in the community—commercial, educational, labor, religious, publicity—and that this committee will appoint subcommittees to stress specific census activities.

This is the first time for many years that all of the censuses—business, manufactures, population, agriculture, housing, mines and quarries, drainage and irrigation—will be taken in a single year.

They will not all be taken at the same time. The censuses of business, manufacturing and mines and quarries will start early in January, some three months ahead of the counts of population, agriculture, and housing, which begin April 1, according to law.

Mayor Acker said that the General Citizens' Committee will be organized soon, and will be asked to appoint subcommittees on business and manufactures and on publicity, which will start at once supplying information to business interests concerning the nature of questions to be asked them and the significance of these questions to the nation's business as a whole.

Aside from perfecting its organization and beginning a study of questionnaires and other material supplied by the Census Bureau in Washington, the general committee will not begin its community-wide drive for cooperation on the later (Continued on back page)

MISS SAYLOR WRITES ARTICLE FOR SCHOOL JOURNAL

Miss Edythe Saylor, member of the physical education faculty of Alabama College is author of an essay on "The Joys of the Open Road in Alabama," published this month in The Alabama School Journal. Miss Saylor's article gives practical suggestions on ways to enjoy the state's nearby recreational opportunities, including hiking and camping. The material is designed to be helpful to those who realize Alabama's vacation possibilities with only limited time and limited means for the purpose.

WPA To Employ Additional 8,000 On Temporary Jobs

In an effort to render aid to families who are suffering from crop losses due to excessive rains in rural areas of Alabama, Col. W. G. Henderson, Alabama administrator of the Works Progress Administration, Wednesday morning was authorized to add 8,000 jobs to the present employment of WPA in Alabama for a period of two months only. These additional jobs are to be used exclusively for those persons in need in these distressed rural areas.

The message from Col. F. C. Harrington, federal commissioner of WPA, authorizing this additional Alabama quota, is as follows: "In order to meet need caused by floods in rural areas where the Farm Security Administration is extending special emergency assistance in the form of grants and/or loans, you are authorized to employ for a period of two months 8,000 in addition to your regularly authorized employment. This additional authorization shall be used exclusively for persons in need in these distressed rural areas. Certification of persons to be employed under this additional authorization should be made by the regularly approved certifying agency in your state. If necessary, however, you are authorized to make your own certification of persons in need to carry out effectively the purpose of this additional employment authorization. Representatives of Farm Security Administration and the State Agricultural Extension Director in your state should be consulted in connection with this additional employment authorization."

16,000 Thirty-Day Jobs

In order to spread the work and reach as many of these distressed families as possible with this additional employment, Col. Henderson stated he would place 8,000 heads of families for one month and then replace them with 8,000 others for the second month of this authorization.

"This will mean we will be able to give temporary assistance to 16,000 families in Alabama in addition to our regular load of 41,000 workers," he stated. "It must be emphasized, however, that this additional employment is only temporary and is for those areas where the damage to crops was highest. The job of assigning these additional workers is being done as rapidly as possible."

Circle No. 2 Meets With Mrs. Brown

Circle No. 2 of the Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. A. Brown at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. W. P. McConaughy as joint hostess.

Mrs. O. B. Cooper had charge of the program for the afternoon. Those taking part on the program were Mrs. W. C. Weems, and Mrs. A. E. Baumgartner.

Mrs. J. Alex Moore read and discussed the meaning of the words of the song, "In Christ There Is No East or West."

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. H. E. Latham, circle leader, conducted a short business session.

A most pleasant social hour was spent with the hostesses, during which a delicious chicken salad course was served to the twelve members present.

PNEUMONIA DEATHS SHOW DECREASE IN SEPTEMBER

Montgomery, Ala.—Fewer deaths from pneumonia were reported in Alabama in September than during any single month of the present year except August, according to provisional vital statistics figures made public today by the State Department of Health.

Members of the State Health Department staff pointed out that September's pneumonia deaths, on the basis of provisional figures, numbered less than one-fourth the total for last January, the highest shown for a single month thus far this year, and considerably less than those for September of last year.

Deaths attributed to pneumonia in September numbered only 71, as compared with 336 in January and 112 in September of last year. Sixty-four pneumonia deaths were reported in August.

Montevallo Wins Over Marbury

Montevallo played Marbury Friday, November 17. Marbury pulled a surprise reverse on the Bulldogs and scored on the opening kick-off. However, they failed to convert. The Montevallo boys were a little nervous in the opening minutes of the game, but soon settled down to play good football.

The Montevallo offense began to click, and the first quarter ended with the ball resting on the Marbury four yard line. On the first play of the second quarter, Dement plunged over for a touchdown. Montevallo converted and led 7-6. The half ended with no further score.

In the third period Montevallo made another hard-earned touchdown after a long drive. This time the Bulldogs failed to convert. There was no further score and the game ended with the Bulldogs on the long end of a 13-6 score.

The Montevallo team plays its last game of the season against Columbiana next Wednesday.

FROM DR. CARMICHAEL

Dr. O. C. Carmichael, Chancellor of Vanderbilt University, continues to keep up with events in Montevallo.

In a letter to The Times this week he says:

"Enclosed is my check for a year's subscription to The Times. I read it always with interest."

BAPTIST CHURCH

"The Grace of Gratitude" will be pastor's subject for the Sunday morning service. Special numbers of Thanksgiving music will be given by the choir. At the Sunday evening service Dr. Pearson will speak on "Secret Sins." The Sunday School hour is 9:45 a.m. The Baptist Training Union meets at 6:45 p.m.

The Missionary Society will meet at the church Monday at 3 p.m. The Sunbeams will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, and the G. A.'s at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

CIRCLE NO. ONE

Circle No. 1 of the Methodist Missionary Society met Monday, November 20, at the home of Mrs. S. M. Mahan. Mrs. Brewer Carpenter was co-hostess.

All business of the past year was discussed and new officers were elected.

Mrs. J. B. Higgins was the program leader. After the program refreshments were served to 13 members and one visitor.

FEDERATED CLUBS OF COUNTY TO MEET IN COLUMBIANA

Mrs. Homer Walton, chairman of the Women's Federated Clubs of Shelby County, is making plans for a county meeting of clubs on Tuesday, November 28. The place of this meeting is Columbiana in the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock. Dr. Eva F. Dodge of the State Health Department, will discuss "Cancer Control." All club members are urged to come and bring a friend with them.

COTTON PRODUCTION IS OFF

The census report shows that 3,589 bales of cotton were ginned in Shelby County from the crop of 1939 prior to November 1, as compared with 4,803 bales for the crop of 1938.

Travis Hartley was carried to a Georgia hospital last week for an operation for tonsils and appendicitis. He is reported doing well following the operations.

HAIR

Mrs. S. M. Mahan and Miss Ann Faust of the Mahan Beauty Shop are back from a four-day stay at the South Central Beautician's Convention, which was held in Birmingham, November 12 to 15. This was the largest and most outstanding show and convention that has ever been held in this section of the country. The latest thing in the care of the hair and skin was shown.

There were six outstanding artists from different sections of the country that gave lectures, demonstrations, and private lessons on all phases of permanent waving, hair shaping and styling. These authorities on hair said the women in the South have the most beautiful suits of hair they had ever worked with, but as for style and shape, we didn't have it.

We put in these four days listening, working, and studying in order that we might bring back to the people of Montevallo and vicinity something new, but at the same time something practical. So come in and let us advise with you on what would be most suitable for your individual personality.

Unemployment Benefits Received In County

Montgomery, Ala.—Another low record for unemployment benefit payments in Alabama was established by the Division of Unemployment Compensation of the Department of Industrial Relations in October, Judge John D. Petree, director of industrial relations, announced today. Only $291,108.71 was paid in October. This was the first time in the history of unemployment compensation in Alabama that less than $300,000 had been paid out in one month.

Jefferson received the largest amount, $90,351.57. This was another new low record as it was the first month that less than $100,000 had been paid to eligible workers in that county. Lawrence County collected the smallest amount, $138.91. Only six counties drew more than $10,000 each from the unemployment trust fund.

Mobile County received the second largest amount, $16,419.04, while Wilcox was third with $14,857.38. Other counties collecting more than $10,000 from the fund were Calhoun, $11,790.38; Tuscaloosa, $11,102.11; Montgomery, $11,088.73.

Residents of other states who had credits in covered employment in Alabama were paid $16,599.24 on proof that they had become unemployed and had filed their claims with employment offices of the night with twelve ladies present. After the program delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Emma Bailey, who has been visiting in Selma and Linden, has returned.

We are glad to report that Alice Ruth Saunderson is improving after having her tonsils removed Friday.

states in which they now reside.

Total unemployment benefits in Shelby County were $3,020.53. Of this amount $2,315.42 was paid to persons who were totally unemployed and $705.11 to persons who were partially unemployed.

No partial unemployment was reported from Lowndes, Macon, and Monroe Counties.

NURSERY PROJECT PAYS SCHOOL BOY

Hamilton, Ala.—A project which had its beginning as a part of his work in vocational agricultural classes may develop into a full-time job for GERALD NOE, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. NOE of Route 1, Detroit, Ala.

Selecting a small nursery plot as his school project, young NOE now has 1,000 shrub plants which are being raised under the supervision of his teacher, I. D. THORNTON, of the Hamilton Secondary Agricultural School. GERALD began with a few seedlings raised in a nursery plot owned by his brother, J. T. NOE, and has been learning the best methods of cultivating and fertilizing such varieties as abelia, arbutus, roses, and willows.

Following in the footsteps of his father, who is a successful Marion County farmer, GERALD is diversifying along other lines also. He has a registered Jersey bull and a registered heifer of his own and two acres of cotton in addition to a number of other projects.

Long known for its faculty of faithful and efficient professors, Auburn today has 22 faculty members who have served here for more than a quarter of a century. Dr. George Petrie, dean of the graduate school, and Dr. John J. Wilmore, dean of the school of engineering, have each been teaching at Auburn for more than 50 years.

Outstanding 4-H Club Girls To Represent State At Meet

Classes Forgotten As Students Scramble After Pecans

It looks like a hard winter for the squirrels of Montevallo.

Classwork these last two weeks at Alabama College has all but suspended while everybody scrambles for pecans. The nuts have been peppering down on campus walkways so thickly that even the straight-A student is lured from her path of duty.

Dignified Ph. D.'s on the faculty and the newest freshmen are equals again as they bump heads scrambling for the falling nuts. What to do with the college pecans has been a live issue for a long time. The Alabamian, campus newspaper, agitated — successfully — for the pecans to be on a free-for-all basis. Heretofore they have been picked up carefully and served only in the dining room. Campus opinion favors the new way. It's every "man" for himself, and classes can wait.

With pecans rolling like marbles across the brick walks, the call of the bell has scant appeal these days for the hundreds of girls at the State College for Women.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Montevallo Girl Scout Council met November 9 at the Little House. Mrs. Appleton presided. Mrs. Vaughan reported that plans had been completed for giving training to all girls who wish to work on the First Aid Badge. Mrs. Hood reported on the Brownie Pack.

Plans were made for painting the Little House.

A thing of great interest to a number of Montevallo students was the violin concert given by Fritz Kreisler at the Municipal Auditorium in Birmingham on November 11. Kreisler was born in Vienna, Austria, 64 years ago. Since then he has given numerous concerts in some of the leading cities of the United States and Europe. He played two concertos in D Major, one by Vivaldi and the other by Tchaikovsky. The remainder of the program consisted of his own compositions. Mr. Kreisler was accompanied at the piano by Carl Lamson.

There were several Girl Scouts who attended the concert. They were: Margaret Bickler, Joyce Baker, Una Faye Davis, Peggy Davis, Sara Barr, Katherine Bridges, Sara Henry Reynolds, Tootsie Clayton, Dama Willis, Mary Jean Kennerly, Jean Waller, Helen Hood, Margaret Kennerly, and Betty Cain.

Two troops of the Montevallo Girl Scouts planned hikes for last Saturday. Troop 2 planned a bicycle hike and Troop 3 planned a plain walking hike. As you know, it rained Friday and Saturday. The weather was too bad for our hikes. The hikes were called off and we went down to the Little House for a spend-the-day party.

There were about nine girls at the Little House Saturday. We all enjoyed eating our lunches and playing games which Mrs. Vaughan brought down for us to play.

After lunch we had fun giving plays to each other, playing games, and making peanut brittle. We enjoyed this candy, if we did have to eat it out of a saucer with a spoon.

The girls that were there for dinner were Betty Cain, Tootsie Clayton, Dorothy Conway, Katherine Bridges, Virginia Barnes, Una Faye Davis, and Peggy Davis. Later in the day Carolyn Ray, Evelyn Ward and Alice Magee came.

One of the first buyers of Christmas Seals in this country was a little ragged newsboy who dropped a penny on the counter of a booth and said, "Gimme one! Me sister's got it."

Winners in Various Fields Will Compose Alabama Delegation To Congress in Chicago

Auburn, Ala. — Alabama will be represented at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next month by an outstanding delegation of girls, according to Elizabeth DeLony, state girls' club leader. Miss DeLony has announced the selection of the following girls who have been judged winners in various fields of 4-H Club activity.

Vaughdeen Phillips, Slocomb High School senior, will represent the state as winner of the "best record" competition.

Dortha Daily, Blount County, winner in the fashion revue held at Auburn, will enter the national dress revue at Chicago.

Annie Lois Hickman, Greenville, food preservation judging.

Winners in the boys' and girls' health contest have not been announced.

Members of the Alabama delegation will compete with outstanding 4-H Club members from every state in the union for awards, and college scholarships will be given to national winners in the best record contest.

"Best Record"

The achievements which won the "best record" competition for young Miss Phillips included a number of farm and home projects which T. A. "Dad" Sims, state 4-H leader, said illustrated "the type of initiative and imagination which 4-H Club work is designed to stimulate and develop." Working with her sister, Ouida, this 16-year-old Geneva County girl constructed a poultry house from an abandoned school bus body and has been raising chickens profitably. She sews, cans, helps with the cooking and has worked with her sister on a garden from which they sell fresh vegetables daily during season.

"In line with the 4-H Club community service aim, Vaughdeen was active in organizing a home demonstration club in her neighborhood," the announcement said, "and she also keeps in her home an up-to-date rack of Extension Service and United States Department of Agriculture bulletins which are available to other families in the neighborhood when needed."

Dress Revue Winner

The outfit which won the dress revue for Dortha Daily was a product of her own handiwork with the exception of shoes and stockings. Complete, including the articles purchased, her fall ensemble cost $14.38, and Miss Catherine Haynes, extension clothing specialist, said that the "competition had demonstrated that 4-H Club girls can outfit themselves attractively and at small cost."

Annie Lois Hickman won the food preservation judging at the short course this summer and when samples of her canning were submitted in the fall her's won top ranking. Lavada Curtis, extension food preservation specialist, commented that 4-H Club interest in canning is helping the farm home to provide an adequate supply of food from the farm land.

Other girls who were selected as outstanding included: Best record, Martha Grimwood, Madison, second; Carleine Reeves, Perry County, third; Marie Abercrombie, Pike County, fourth; dress revue, Helen Summerlin, Covington County, second; Doris Bennet, Lee County, third; Ada Rose Epp, Dallas County, fourth; food preservation judging, Helen Liveokas, Butler County, second; Dorothy Lamb and Jeanette Averett, both of Dallas County, tied for third.

A two-man debate team from Oxford University, England, will meet the Auburn debate team on November 17 and stage an oral battle on questions of international interest. John Godbold and John Ivey, Jr., both of Auburn, will compose the Auburn team to meet the Englishmen.

The 36 young women who graduated from the Auburn school of home economics last May now have employment, with the exception of four girls who have married. Eleven girls are assistant home demonstration agents, five are with the Farm Security Administration, and others are dietitians, home economics teachers, and demonstrators for public utility companies.

*STREET PAVING

Montevallo's PWA street paving project continues in progress despite a noted slowness on the part of some of the property owners to pay their assessment. Mayor Acker says the Town Council feels a little jittery in having to keep the work going on such a thin margin of cash, and it is confidently hoped that everybody concerned will soon find it possible to pay in the money so that full assurance may occupy the minds of the officials.

It is already evident that the new paving will make for much improvement in appearance and convenience in the parts of town where it is being done.

Great surpluses of dirt are being moved and this is readily taken by property owners who have low places to be filled in, all of which will serve to make better looking homes as well as improved streets.

THE 1940 CENSUS

Your Uncle Sam wants to know: How many people are under his protection. Where they are located. How they earn a living. How many stores and factories they operate. How many farms they work.

The Sixteenth Decennial Census to be taken in 1940 will give the answers to these and many other questions which are of vital importance to everyone.

Many things have happened in this country of ours during the eventful years since the 1930 census was taken. People have been driven from certain areas by dust storms and floods. Others have changed their homes in search of employment. Factories have been relocated. New crops have been developed.

No business or nation can operate without taking an occasional inventory. Next year the United States is going to take the biggest inventory of them all. The 1940 census will give a new, accurate, and up-to-date balance sheet of our people, our industries, and our resources.

The 1940 census will be broad in scope. It will cover population, agriculture, manufactures, business, employment and occupation, drainage, irrigation, mines, and housing. It will spread halfway around the world — from the rugged coast of Maine to sunny Guam in the far reaches of the Pacific Ocean. Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Panama Canal Zone, and the small scattered islands in the Pacific—used as stepping stones of the China Clippers—will be included.

The population and agriculture canvasses start on April 1, 1940, as provided by law. The censuses of business, manufactures, mines, irrigation, and drainage will begin in January, 1940. The subjects covered in the 1940 census are specified by an act of Congress.

Every important community and population center will be asked to exercise all the local interest possible in order to make the 1940 census the most complete and comprehensive ever taken. Mayor Charles T. Acker will lead such a local committee in Montevallo. The people on this committee have been named and asked to meet at the Mayor's office Tuesday night, November 28, when Dr. Acker will explain the far-flung program that is laid for taking the census next year, and how it is vitally important to Montevallo and every such community.

THANKSGIVING SUPPER

There will be a Thanksgiving supper and entertainment at Ebenezer Methodist Church on Saturday night, November 25. Everyone is invited. Boxes will be sold and other good things to eat. Proceeds will go to the church committee.

It is never too late to pay for Christmas Seals.

POWER DISPUTE

For some time we have been happy in the thought that a lasting peace had been reached between TVA and the power companies. But it now appears that trouble is still fermenting under the surface or at least under the skins of some of the brain-trusters.

Last week director Lilienthal proceeded to rip open the old wound and pour it full of salt. Speaking at LaFayette, he assailed the Alabama Power Company, charging obstructionist tactics by the company toward rural electrification. By this speech the TVA director renews the war and forces all thinking and enlightened people to take sides. We are ready to shoulder arms in the conflict, since he has called it — and again we are on the side of Alabama Power Company, right where we have been ever since Captain Lay first blazed the trails of progress and dammed up the Coosa River.

The statements of Lilienthal may make it look to some that the power companies have not done many things they should and might have done. But it is silly for anybody to charge that Alabama Power Company has been a hindrance to progress and development in Alabama.

The true picture can be seen only when it is realized that, for several years past, the federal government has held a club over the power industry, both in development and distribution of electric energy. TVA has been a constant threat. Government competition on the scale and in the merciless manner promised through TVA is enough to frighten any business, no matter how big.

If Mr. Lilienthal can find any ground for charging Alabama Power Company with lack of progressive policies, he must surely know that it is his radical application of the TVA program that has caused it.

Alabama Power Company pioneered in development of Alabama. It has been the leader. It would have done more if TVA had not put on it the damper of fear by government usurpation and trespass into a field that rightfully belongs to private industry.

Great is the pity that the federal government does not find a way to do the fine things that are latent in the TVA idea without having to dig the foundation from under private industry.

TVA makes it impossible for utility companies to do what they want to do — and then Director Lilienthal comes around periodically and cusses them for being reactionary and obstructionist.

Mr. Lilienthal does not have to bother about finding sound and sensible ways to run TVA. The taxpayers are footing the bill. If his schemes sink a few millions here and there, taxes will pour in to fill up the hole.

The power companies must pay dividends to their stockholders and also must pay taxes to keep up TVA. Then they are expected to make such expansions of facilities and service as is needed to keep pace with growing demands. This is not as easily done by private industry as it is in the theoretical plans of TVA where there is no obligation to keep in mind the principles of a reasonable return on an investment.

Yet, when Mr. Lilienthal finds an excuse to charge a lack of proper expansion of private industry measured by his own yardstick, he starts cussing Alabama Power Company. It is so much bosh!

We agree with Tom Martin:

"I believe that the people of Alabama know that Alabama Power Company has not been remiss in its efforts toward the rural and industrial development of Alabama, and that when they place the known facts alongside Mr. Lilienthal's misstatements, the Alabama Power Company can be content with the conclusions that honest and fair-minded Alabama citizens will reach."

Representative May, (D.), of Kentucky, has given Lilienthal's crowd the right name—"wrecking crew." He also very pointedly inquires: When will the government "in control of my party," replace the "wrecking crew" with a "construction gang?"

In 1904, 201 out of every 100,000 persons died of tuberculosis; in 1938, 49 persons died from this disease. Tuberculosis can be wiped out.

License Is Required For Selling Raw Oysters

Montgomery, Ala. — Nearly 3,000 Alabama retail merchants, restaurants, and fish dealers are in for a lot of grief unless they comply with the law prohibiting the sale of undersized fish and provide themselves with a $1 license for selling raw oysters, according to Ben C. Morgan, chief of the Game, Fish and Seafood Division of the Conservation Department. The oyster license statute has been on the books for several years, but the undersized fish regulation is a new one.

Morgan said that his office had mailed out notifications to 3,800 retail merchants and restaurants in Alabama about the oyster license, and only 1,00 had requested licenses. One more notice will be sent out, Morgan said, and then the game wardens will be ordered to close in. Vigorous prosecution of all firms who ignore the last warning will be instituted, he declared.

Ignorance of the undersized mullet and speckled trout laws is believed responsible for the fact that many stores and markets are still selling them, Morgan declared. It is illegal to have in possession for sale or to sell or offer for sale mullet less than 9 inches long with the head on and less than 7 inches long with the head off. It is unlawful to have in possession, whether for sale or not, speckled trout less than 11 inches long from nose to tail. It is not unlawful to catch small mullet for home consumption, so long as they are not sold.

Presence in stores and markets of undersized mullet or speckled trout is evidence of law violation, Morgan declared, adding that many retail merchants do not realize they are violating the law by buying undersized fish from wholesale dealers. Most of the wholesalers are aware of the new law, he said, and it is up to the store and market employees to acquaint themselves with the law.

Effective immediately, all game wardens have been instructed to begin rigid enforcement of the undersized fish laws, and cases will be made against violators, Morgan said.

"Enforcement of the seafoods laws is necessary if we are to preserve our source of supply," Morgan declared. "In recent years so many small mullet and speckled trout have been taken that our waters are rapidly becoming depleted of these important food fishes. The Department does not wish to be arbitrary about the matter, but after fair warning we expect to round up all law violators."

Full information about the oyster dealer's license law and the undersized fish regulations may be obtained by writing the Conservation Department, Montgomery.

HAVE YOU TUNED IN ON MONTEVALLO'S COLLEGE OF THE AIR, JUST STARTING?

If you would listen to a treat over the air, tune in on "Alabama College School of the Air" over WAPI. It is entertainment, plus, and a program the whole state may be proud of.

Early in November, 1939, Alabama College, Montevallo, launched the Alabama College School of the Air over Radio Station WAPI, Birmingham. The programs of the Alabama College School of the Air come twice weekly during the school day at 2:00 p.m. Their appeal is for classroom groups ranging from the fourth through the eighth grade.

At present the Alabama College School of the Air offers two courses to the school children of the state. The art department of the college prepares a course known as "Art for Fun" which is broadcast each Tuesday. The program series, known as "Learning the Language of Music," is broadcast each Thursday of the school term—Bessemer Tribune-Advertiser.

Public Health Protected By Sanitation Laws

There are approximately 70 eating establishments, soda fountains, and meat markets in Shelby County.

In order to insure protection of the public health, all these establishments are under the supervision of the Health Department and are required to follow certain practices prescribed by law.

They are required to sterilize by heat all eating and drinking utensils and vessels after each use. Some of the diseases which might be contracted from glasses, cups, spoons, etc., if not sterilized, are common colds, influenza, measles, mumps, diphtheria, trench mouth, meningitis, Poliomyelitis, tuberculosis, etc.

They are required to use water only from a protected supply. This eliminates the danger of typhoid, dysentery, and other intestinal infections which may be carried by impure water.

Flies and other insects must be eliminated; these also may carry typhoid and other disease germs.

Foods must be properly refrigerated. If this is not done, bacterial changes will take place which render it unfit for use.

Receptacles such as for sugar and syrup are required to have proper covers; all vessels must be properly stored after being washed and sterilized; street clothing of attendants must be kept in a locker and newspapers or used wrapping paper are forbidden as shelf or table covers.

These and numerous other requirements are necessary in order to protect the public health.

Be sure that the establishment you patronize has a permit on display.

MODERATE IN PRICE AND COST OF OPERATION

Electric ranges and water heaters can be bought at prices and on terms to fit almost any pocketbook—only 5% down ($5 minimum) and 36 months to pay the balance (until Dec. 24). Cost of operation at low urban rates is seldom more than $2.50 a month for the electric range, and $3.50 to $4.00 for the electric water heater in families of average size. (Note: These are average operating costs—they may be less or more, according to the size and habits of the family. Operating cost on rural lines slightly more.)

1. FIRST in beauty --

see how old, drab kitchens are "spruced up" with modern electric devices—range, water heater, refrigerator, dishwasher.

2. FIRST in safety -- watch tiny tots play at cooking with little chance of harm. Some mothers encourage them to cook simple dishes for themselves on their safe electric ranges.

3. FIRST in cleanliness -- look at kitchens where the cooking and water heating are done electrically—learn how much longer walls, woodwork and draperies remain clean.

4. FIRST in convenience -- set the timers of a modern electric range and go visiting while a meal cooks unattended. Electric water heaters do their job without attention—not even a switch to snap!

5. FIRST in up-to-dateness --

SAVING MONEY With Cotton Bags

Keeping the refrigerator clean and orderly does not need to be a task. Save your small Cotton Sugar, Salt and Flour Bags and use them for storing fruits and vegetables in the refrigerator. These Cotton bags are easy to keep clean and the fruits and vegetables kept in them stay fresh and crisp. A small hem at the top of the Bag is all the sewing required, unless you would like a motif to fit in with the color scheme of your kitchen. This stitching can be done in simple stitches. A drawstring can be added, if desired.

Other Cotton Bag Sewing ideas are illustrated in a free booklet. Send to National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis or Textile Bags 100 N. LaSalle St., Chicago.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Public Meeting

The American Legion Auxiliary held its November meeting in the auditorium of the Elementary School last Thursday night, at which time the people of Montevallo were given an opportunity to attend. The speakers for the occasion were Mr. K. W. Grimley, executive secretary of the Tuberculosis Association, and Dr. J. L. Brakefield, state chairman of the Tuberculosis Association and member of the Howard College faculty.

Mrs. M. P. Jeter, county chairman of the Seal sale, introduced the speakers, stating in her introductory talk that the American Legion Auxiliary first sponsored the Seal sale as a local project, but that the needs were so great, and other parts of the county were menaced by the dread disease, that the Auxiliary could not remain true to its purpose of existing as a service organization and limit the benefits of the work to Montevallo alone; hence, the work had spread over a wider territory.

Mr. Grimley told of the origin of the little Christmas Seal, and of the work being done with money derived from the sale of seals to combat tuberculosis. He also stated that Shelby County was in the Tuberculosis Belt of the nation, a statement which should make the citizens of Shelby County more anxious than ever to help fight this disease.

Dr. Brakefield told of visiting in sanatoriums filled to capacity with young women, and of the tragedy of the loss of life to Alabama. With modern methods of treatment, he said, tuberculosis is not the hopeless disease that it was in past years, but if treated in time, people can be returned to their family circles, their work, and other activities, cured and happy instead of discouraged and hopeless.

Dr. Brakefield appealed to those present to do all they could to give the youth of Alabama a chance to grow healthy and happy, for he said there was no use trying to educate the mind if it was in a diseased body.

The American Legion Auxiliary wishes to take this opportunity to express its deep appreciation to Mrs. Charlotte Peterson and her efficient group of teachers for making a "thing of beauty" out of the elementary school building. The entire building was lighted, and on every side were evidences of artistic touches of faithful, efficient teachers which made an interesting setting for talks on a subject which will safeguard the youth of our town and surrounding communities.

It was with deep appreciation that the Auxiliary noticed that both of Montevallo's local ministers were present, together with a representative group of local citizens. Their interest is appreciated, for a cause as widespread as combating tuberculosis should not be confined to one group alone, but should be the vital concern of every citizen of our town and county.

Miss Mary Louise Morgan of Elba was the guest of Miss Theda Wyatt over the week end.

Mrs. Annie Lacey McIntosh of West Blocton is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bloomer Wilson.

MESSAGE

To Mr. Farmer:

Did a mail - order house ever buy any of your products?

Will they take your chickens and eggs in exchange for their merchandise?

Will they take part in our community enterprises?

Will they come to our aid in time of need?

To Mrs. Homemaker:

Did a mail-order house ever make a donation to your church or club?

Do they let you SEE and FEEL their merchandise before you buy it?

Will they DELIVER goods to your door and make exchanges if goods are not satisfactory?

The answer to all these questions is NO!

Your Montevallo merchant not only does all the above, but he has helped pave your streets and roads, he gives you police protection, he pays taxes to run your local government, he supports your Community Chest and above all HE IS YOUR NEIGHBOR AND DESERVES YOUR SUPPORT.

Census

censuses until after the first of the year, Mayor Acker said.
"Our first job is to make certain that every business man understands that this community's hopes for new industries, investments, payrolls, and residents—in fact, all its plans—are tied up directly with getting full census reports from every business firm," Mayor Acker said. "We don't want a better record than we can get by reporting truthfully, but we want everything to which we are entitled, so that we will have a proper ranking when compared with other similar cities and areas."

The Committee of Citizens

Acting to carry out the plan suggested by the Census Bureau, Mayor Acker has named the following persons to constitute the committee of citizens for Montevallo:

Dr. W. D. Jackson, president of the Civic Club; Dr. Anne Eastman, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. F. H. Frost, president of the P. T. A.; Dr. M. L. Orr, superintendent of schools; W. M. Wyatt, publisher of The Montevallo Times; R. A. Reid, postmaster; C. M. Gardner, chief of police; Joe Klotzman, retail merchant; J. A. Brown, wholesale merchant; J. R. Lewis, manufacturer; Dr. F. B. Pearson, pastor of the Baptist Church; Rev. J. M. Shores, pastor of the Methodist Church; Dr. Myrtle Brooke, sociology department, Alabama College; R. P. Holcomb, treasurer of Community Chest; _____ president

Teamwork!

THE STANDS roar as the home team crashes through for a touchdown—the payoff for the teamwork of a charging line, blocking backs and a driving ball carrier.

In everyday life, the state watches intently from the sidelines as Alabama's aggressive ABC Board drives ahead towards its goal of elimination of any undesirable conditions in retail beer outlets.

Running interference in this drive we find public opinion, public officials, and the beer industry itself as represented by their committee.

That's teamwork, too!

GASOLINE TAX COLLECTIONS HEADED FOR ALL-TIME PEAK

A billion-dollar high-water mark in gasoline taxations, closely approached in both 1938 and 1937, will be passed this year if the increased rate of tax collections reported by federal and state authorities for the first part of 1939 continue, as anticipated, through the remainder of the year.

To July 1, gasoline tax receipts by the states, less refunds, had mounted an average 6 per cent above the first six months of 1938. At this rate of increase, state gasoline taxes in 1939 will cost motorists approximately $815,000,000 as against last year's cost of $766,853,000.

Collections from the federal government's one-cent per gallon tax in the first nine months showed an even greater gain—11 per cent. If this rate holds through the rest of 1939, the government's $200,000,000 1938 levy on gasoline will grow to $220,000,000, bringing federal and state gasoline tax costs to consumers to the stupendous total of $1,035,000,000.

BAKERY SALE FRIDAY

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrews Episcopal Church will hold a bakery sale Friday of this week from 3 to 5:30 p.m. at the Little Shop of Personal Service. The proceeds will go to the building fund of the church. You are invited.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Mr. J. Paul Hanlin, principal of Inglenook School, Birmingham, will speak at the 11 o'clock service of the Church of Christ next Sunday. Services will be at the Girl Scout Little House.

of the Trades Council; T. E. Watson, of amusement industry; F. P. Givhan, Town Council.

Meeting Called

Mayor Acker requests this committee to meet at his office Tuesday night, November 28, at 7:30 for the purpose of perfecting an active organization. Dr. Acker will present a full explanation of the census plans and tell how the citizens' committee may function toward making the census fully and accurately representative of the community.

Martin's Answer

Alabama Power Company and electricity reaches the farmer with almost the same dependability and regularity which the city dweller enjoys.

"Alabama Power Company has experimented with uses for electricity on farms even before adequate electrical equipment for farm use had been manufactured. It helped pioneer the development of such equipment. Its work in rural electrification has been so outstanding that it was awarded the medal for the greatest achievement in this respect of any private utility in the United States.

"Alabama Power Company rural line extensions in the Tallapoosa area were proposed by Alabama Power Company long before the government gave its money to the cooperative. The company was the first in the field with its construction crews and its facilities, and its lines were well underway before the cooperative began its construction work. Our service will be far superior because we have a great number of points from which our distribution lines in this area will receive their energy supply. The cooperative will have only one point. We will maintain in the area a number of crews to repair lines and to maintain service. It is doubtful whether the cooperative will be able to maintain more than one crew.

"It is apparent that Mr. Lillenthal is continuing the campaign of defamation of utilities which has made it impossible for utilities in the area of TVA to refinance or to raise new money for construction. If Mr. Lillenthal and others in his position would cease their unfair and untrue attacks, the public would be astonished at the developments that could be gotten underway, and calling for the expenditure of millions of dollars which would result in the employment of thousands of men, and make it unnecessary for the government to spend millions of dollars which it is spending needlessly developing federal power projects. Those dollars might better be conserved for the future when they might possibly be needed in the national defense.

"In our appeal to the agencies of the government for a rational solution of the senseless duplication of electrical facilities, we have frequently pointed out that the actions on policies of governmental agents do not jibe with the expressions of the President of the United States in a letter addressed to Senator Byrnes on July 21, 1939, in which the President stated that certain suggested appropriations were to be used to serve 'rural families not now receiving electric service nor likely to receive such service in the near future.' The course pursued in Alabama by the REA has in many instances been directly opposite to that indicated by the President.

"I believe that the people of Alabama know that Alabama Power Company has not been remiss in its efforts toward the rural and industrial development of Alabama and that when they place the known facts alongside Mr. Lillenthal's misstatements, the Alabama Power Company can be content with the conclusions that honest and fair-minded citizens will reach."
